Cookies

A 'Cookie' is a piece of information that a website sends to your web browser which helps the site remember information about you and your preferences.

'Session' cookies are temporary pieces of information which are erased once you exit your Web browser window or turn your computer off. Session cookies are used to improve navigation on web sites and to collect statistical information.

'Persistent' cookies are more permanent pieces of information that are placed on the hard drive of your computer and stay there unless you delete the cookie. Persistent cookies store information on your computer for a number of reasons, such as retrieving certain information you have previously provided (e.g. login passwords), helping to determine what areas of the website visitors find most valuable, and customising the web site based on your preferences.

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website, to support user logins and to help analyse how our site is used. The following cookies are used:

Session ID – These cookies are used to assist people with logins and use of forms to improve their experience of the site.

Persistent – These cookies are used to collect information about how visitors use our site. We use the information to compile reports and to help us improve the site. The cookies collect information in an anonymous form, including the number of visitors to the site, where visitors have come to the site from and the pages they visited.

Access to your information

You have the right to request a copy of the information that we hold about you. If you would like a copy of some or all your personal information, you can:

- Email info@eci.org.uk
- Write to Exeter Community Initiatives, 148-149 Fore Street, Exeter, EX4 3AN

We will not charge you for this service unless the request is 'manifestly unfounded or excessive or repetitive'.

Your rights

Data protection regulations give you clear rights over how your data is used by us. You can find out more detail about your rights by visiting the Information Commissioner's Office website's section on individual rights.

You also have the right to report concerns or complain about our handling of your data to the Information Commissioner's Office. Details of how to do this can be found on its website.
