Community Builder's Update - September-November 2023

Hello from Josh!

Welcome to September with a few clarifying reminders about me!

1) I'm employed parttime by a local charity, Exeter Community Initiatives- logo above! I am not employed by Exeter City Council nor Devon County Council.

2) Our role as Community Builders is primarily to have conversations, and through that we can discover what people care enough about to take action it with other locals. This is part of building community!

Lastly, 3) We aim to be as neutral as possible, especially in regard to political, contentious and/or polarised topics. I do, and will continue to listen to locals on the topics that they raise as well as share information around consultations and how to provide feedback on said topics.

Best wishes

Fosh

Listening Post

Listening is an important part of a Community Builder's work. Here's some of what I've heard locals say recently.

Knit n natter group possibility at a retirement complex of flats.
"I knit, you knit, why don't we knit together and see who else comes along?"

"So much fun! I used to go [pre-covid]
and plan to go again now I know it's back" RE Golden Oldies sing-along sessions (not a choir!)

"Don't be put off if you don't feel clever enough. Everyone is really lovely and warm, and happy to help one another out with materials or showing techniques" -Member of Exeter Stitchers

> [It's really lovely how I can see and be in green countryside with just a short walk from my home]- A Digby local

Signposting

Here are a few groups that I often 'signpost' folks to during conversations.

For parents of little ones, I often recommend the Exeterbabies website with a list of most toddler groups across Exeter by day, and for mothers I often recommend 'Mums in Exeter' FB group as a great place to to ask questions and/or find information.

If you are interested in history, I often recommend both the Exeter Memories website and/or the FB group where people share great photos and tidbits of local history (and sometimes rediscover school friends and the like from decades ago!)

P.S It's worth finding the 'Search' function so that you can type in a key enquiry word, 'Digby' and see more results related to that.

Litter and Flooding

A while back, a local from Broadfields said that "It's known that the more litter people see, the more they feel willing to chuck it themselves, and the same is true in reverse. The tidier we keep our beautiful area, hopefully the more it will stay like that." I spoke to a resident recently in countess wear who is a keen litter-picker. I was curious about where the litter is found, and she kindly made me a map with a series of crosses thereon! Where do you feel there are hotspots near where you live? Likewise, given the recent flooding [September], can you tell me if and how locals are collectively addressing it on their streets? I heard that the Hill Barton association has been addressing this with their local councillors, and also that in parts of the UK there are Flood Action groups... Thanks to those who continue to look after their area and a special mention to local Dave when we rang his doorbell and asked for a hard brush to sweep back the weeds and vegetation from the small basketball court off Mulberry Close pictured above.

Stall for all

From one idea posted by a Newcourt local, now a few locals from Digby and Newcourt are planning with their neighbours to have a yard sale of sorts across the areas by local's homes.

"A Stall for All - Not quite a garage sale not quite a car boot!

Residents are invited to set up a stall, outside their home. we'd love you to have a clear out and sell or giveaway your preloved items, or to promote your handmade craft or business. Why not have a chat with your neighbours and share a space near your home, a driveway, garden, street or communal area. And course, residents are massively encouraged to explore the estate to meet and chat with neighbours, shop and help the estate to recycle and reuse!

The event will run from 10-11.30, weather permitting. The WhatsApp group is available for all to join to share ideas and chat. Please use the following link to join:

https://chat.whatsapp.com/CL0Ek8GPMSAFrItkxe5emm

Please share the event with neighbours, friends and family - Any questions, suggestions or ideas please do post in thread below or in the WhatsApp group."

We have a date and time for the Digby event (28th October, 10:30 till 12) and we hope to create a map of locations... So if you're keen to get involved, 1) arrange with your neighbours to organise where you'll set out a table or two and whether you'll share that as well. 2) email local Claire with that location, so that she can collate the information and we can make a map! claireignand2015@outlook.com

More information will be shared on the Facebook page and/or Digby FB group in due time, :)

Community Walk

A reminder: 9:45am every Wednesday outside the noticeboard by the MS centre, Clyst Heath... with a lovely photo (right) with our youngest attendee so far!

Despite a similar route each week, we often notice different lifeforms and parts of the environment that we don't remember seeing the weeks before (we've recently been paying close attention to caterpillars and friendly dogs especially!). All welcome, even if not to walk and just for a drink after the walk (approx. 10:30/10:45am)

Reuse/Recycle Information

Recently, I discovered various local recycling points for a few objects! Thank you to residents who also then added their knowledge. Where do you go- what else do you recycle outside the green bin?

Bras @ Newcourt Community Centre

Vapes, Water filters and Batteries...
Soft plastics and plastic clothes hangers...
Printer ink cartridges & light bulbs
@ Tesco at Rydon Retail Park

Old spectacles/glasses, hearing aids, and old/foreign coinage @ MS Centre

Textiles (Clean and undamaged) @ Dunhelm

Helpful information can also be found from Denis the Dustcart (Such as ":a reminder that you can always put out extra recycling beside your green bin in bags labelled as 'recycling'. Flatten any large pieces of card and put these out loose (avoid doing this on a rainy day, though). We don't limit how much recycling you can put out, but we do set a limit on rubbish and our crews will not collect bags put out with your black bin. ttps://www.facebook.com/DustcartDenis/? locale=en GB

For those keen on freecycling, a while back a Heavitree resident made a great list of where to take objects that no one else seems to want which was copied to the Quarrylands/St Loyes Free circle FB group here:

Youth groups

Unlike activities that have been continuing over the summer such as Pickleball at Wonford sports centre ("a cross between badminton, table tennis and tennis and is played on a badminton court with paddles") or the sing-a-long Golden Oldies sessions across Exeter, other kid related activities have now restarted along with school. I've been asked to share in particular K@tch (children in yr 3-6) has restarted at Clyst Heath school and also the various youth groups (for older age groups) at the 100 Club, south of Digby in Countess Wear.
